MEAT & CURED MEAT

DRY AGED BEEF - France

Dry aging beef allows the natural enzymes to break down the tough connective tissue in the meat, while the evaporation of water allows for a concentrated and richer flavor. This method is not new, in fact, it is quite old. Temperature and humidity must be strictly controlled during the aging process. However, dry-aging is not science or facility. It is the butcher, who brings to the process his art, founded in years of experience. It is this experience and watchful attention to detail that allows a cut of beef to be transformed into a sensory sensation.

OZONE - DRY AGED 8 WEEKS OR MORE

These animals are fed with flax. After the slaughtering, the meat is dry aged for a minimum of 8 weeks. As a result, the "Ozone" meat has a lot of intramuscular fat, an amazingly intense aroma and exceptional succulence and tenderness.

IBERICO "PURO BELLOTA" PORK (Maldonado - Spain)

The Montanera is the period during which the acorns and cork oaks mature and fall to the ground. This period usually lasts from November to March depending on the weather. During this period, Iberian pigs each eat about 10 kilos of acorn per day, which allows them to take a kilo a day! They move from an initial weight of 70 kilos to finish at 170 kilos. This period of high activity requires pigs to get plenty of exercise, looking for this festive food. It is this exercise and this food that will give the meat all its characteristics, marbled and juiciness. Pork "Iberico Bellota Puro" inevitably arrives frozen since the time of slaughtering is very short in the year immediately after the Montanera.

CHURN BUTTER (Jean-Yves BORDIER - Saint-Malo - France)

Jean-Yves Bordier wanted to be a sailor, his parents were cheesemakers ... He anchored in Saint Malo and restored the desire of butter. Churned, mixed by hand, salted, Bordier butter is then hand shaped using wooden spatula to create butter portions which each have their own unique form. This is the butter of chefs and real foodies.

RAW BUTTER (Le Ponclet - Finistère - France)

Because the cows from the Ponclet farmers are milked once a day, the milk is very concentrate. The skimming of the milk (this stage allows to separate the cream from the milk) is done immediatly, when the milk is still hot. The kneading of the butter is a very physical work and vary each day depending of the climate and the feeding of the cows. This butter can improve wonderfully with time, especially when salted.

PASTA - BENEDETTO CAVALIERI (Italy)

Benedetto Cavalieri developed a method called "Delicate Method" which permits to preserve the nutritional values of the durum wheat, its taste and typical flavour and a completely natural consistency which is still so highly esteemed by gourmets. These pasta offer a delightful chewiness when cooked. The average pasta found in supermarket is probably as close to Benedetto Cavalieri's as an off-the-peg suit is to one that's been tailor-made. Taste the difference...

DRY WILD MUSHROOMS & SEAWEEDS (Philippe Emanuelli - Belgium)

A dried product (mushrooms for example) is not merely a desperate stopgap measure for dealing with the fresh product, but rather an enhanced version of that product. It's not less, but more. Our mushrooms are picked and dried in NW Greece, 200 kms from Thessaloniki, in the natural parks of West Macedonia, between 500 and 1500 m altitude. The Natural Park of Pindos, in particular, has a very rich array of ecosystems, wild and lavish (endemic species, black pine, brown bear, wolf, eagle, mushrooms). This large area, protected as "biogenetic reserve" with nonexistent industry is free of intensive cultivation, unspoiled by acid rain and has an almost zero level of pollution.

Located in the south of Tuscany, Le Amantine has chosen to take care of the three most typical varieties of olives of the region: the frantoio, the canino and the leccino. WINE VINEGAR (Laurent Agnès - France)

Laurent Agnès vinegars are authentic, made of traditional know-how and without any additive. The traditional elaboration takes place from the outset in oak barrels. Fermentation which extends over several months, allows the formation of aromatic compounds essential for the organoleptic quality of the product. Flavored vinegars are then obtained by maceration with exclusively natural ingredients in vinegar before bottling.

VANILLA

Tahitensis Vanilla (Tahiti Vanilla) is 1% of world production, against 99% for the Bourbon vanilla. The quality of the Tahitian Vanilla is that vanilla does not burst at maturity. The pod is thickest, most fragrant and full of seed. Its second advantage lies in the uniqueness and finesse of its perfume. The pods "Grand Cru Tahaa" are fleshy, shorter and let gradually discover a rich and aromatic fruity bouquet, smooth, extended sublime floral notes.

CORSICA FRUITS ARTISANAL SYRUPS (Les Jardins d'Alesani - Felce - Corsica)

These syrups are produced from fruits grown either in the Castagniccia region at 800 meters in altitude or on the east coast for the citrus. The fruits macerate in a good wine for a while and are then cooked with sugar. Thus, we obtain an artisanal syrup which is in fact a natural fruit cream with no other additive and amazingly powerful aromas. Residual alcohol content is 3%. It can be used either for dessert (strawberry Tiramisu) or for salted dishes (Figs and foie gras, soft cheese or to deglazed a meat). Fantastic for cocktails and even suitable for kids when diluted 1:7 with water (residual alcohol degree of 0,4%).
